

Everyone has a story to tell.

Together, we can provide a valuable lesson and share advice with others.

Our goal is to share your first-hand knowledge and experience with vaccine-preventable diseases with other New Englanders to help them avoid a similar fate. Your story will send a powerful message about the importance of vaccination. We will share these stories in our newsletters, educational events or our website.

Have you experienced any of these vaccine-preventable diseases?

Influenza Pneumonia Shingles

What was your experience? What did you learn from this?

When did this happen?

If you could give any advice to others, what would it be?
